The latest reports seem hopeless, the Japanese are rejecting the students, stating that it is common Japanese policy to refuse asylum for anybody. Foreign Minister Alatas appeared on tv a few hours ago downplaying the evnt and promising investigation in the matter while he is seeking dialogue with the students. He announced that the Japanese have refused to give asylum to the two. Apparently the Japanese have let some Indonesian officials on embassy ground to persuade the students to leave the premisses. The similar attitude is been taken by the Vatican embassy. In the meantime the news is spread around because today's Kompas and also Editor reported the event.
